Temple Grove Schools Trust

Inspiring excellence in primary education

Temple Grove Schools Trust is an incorporated charity founded some 50 years ago and springs from one of the country's oldest prep schools, Temple Grove – founded in 1810 and the subject of the books 'Cradle of Empire' and 'Waterfield's School'. The Trust's contemporary aim is to inspire excellence in primary education, sharing best practice between the state and private sectors. The Trust will:

- Invest in primary schools and projects carrying the Temple Grove name and values (always putting support for children and staff before buildings).

Hatcham Temple Grove The primary phase of the first of three all-age Academies to be created in south east London; a joint project with the Haberdashers' Aske's Federation.

Gifted & Talented An innovative partnership programme - training staff and bringing stimulating teaching to able pupils of schools in East Sussex.

- Influence the development of primary education across both sectors.

Drawing on some 200 years of experience in primary education, the Trust is bringing the maintained and private sectors together, to participate in its projects and share resources, experience and vision.

- Provide governance – delegating performance to professional staff and providing them with additional support.

The Trust is providing Governors for its new Academies, whilst investing in teacher training and the provision of resources to support its projects.

- Relieve hardship within its Schools and other projects, through the Temple Grove Bursary Fund.

Temple Grove Schools Trust & Bursary Fund welcomes:

- Proposals for both educational and research projects.
- Partners to join in achieving shared aims.
- Supporters who can assist the Trust to develop and expand its work in inspiring excellence in primary education.
